

B. DUDLEY SNUDDEN

DELIVERS ELOQUENT ADDRESS
APPROPRIATE TO ARMISTICE DAY AT WOMAN'S CLUB

Members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club and their guests enjoyed a very great treat yesterday afternoon in an address appropriate to Armistice Day delivered by Rev. B. Dudley Snudden, former pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city, a wonderfully eloquent talk in which he made his audience see as he saw them, the battle-scarred fields of Flanders and made them realize what the conflict has meant to invaded Belgium, to devastated France, and to England. He contrasted the devastated industrial zones of France with the unscarred landscape of Germany which he declared is very rapidly being rehabilitated to enter the markets of the world and compete with America as well as the countries of Europe. He described the great peace celebration in Paris on the 14th day of July which he was so fortunate as to witness and how the people began gathering the evening before at eight o'clock and massed so rapidly that by midnight when he and the friend who accompanied him sought a place of vantage, they had difficulty in squeezing into a group of French soldiers who good-naturedly made room for them. He told what a thrill went through that vast concourse when the Americans came down the avenue minus the gorgeous trappings that symbolize an autocratic government, but wonderful in their splendor of manhood, and what cheers rent the air in salute and what tears of joy were shed, and then of the emotion that gripped the people when their own war heroes, the poilus of France, modestly brought up at the rear of the great cavalcade. All this was but the prelude to a passionate plea for the ratification of the League of Nations because, he declared, the fourteen points were taken seriously by the peoples of Europe and they are looking to America to realize them and bring about such a league as shall make another war impossible. If it is not ratified, he insisted, leagues of opposing nations will be formed and inside of ten years the world will see

MOTOR CAR COLLISION

This morning a Bradford Bakery motor wagon collided with the auto of Harry White, of the Packer & White Auto Co. Mr. White, accompanied by his son, was driving a light Studebaker Six south on Glendale avenue, when between California and Wilson avenues he was intercepted by the Bradford Bakery wagon which was in the act of turning in the middle of the block. The rear of the White car came in contact with the front part of the Bradford truck, the result being that the front wheels of the bakery truck were smashed down and the rear left-hand fender and running-board of the Studebaker car were badly bent. Fortunately no one was injured and the accident might have been worse than it was.

VALUABLE PRESENTS

MRS. ANDERSON RECEIVES TWO BIRTHDAY PULLETS LIKELY TO YIELD INCOME

Mrs. M. A. Anderson, of 107 South Isabel street, wishes she had birthdays more frequently. Last Tuesday—her natal day—when she reached home at six o'clock after closing the store which she and her son Carl conduct on Broadway, she found her sisters, Mrs. Higgins and Mrs. Hoffman, in possession of her home which had been beautifully decorated with flowers, and a steaming hot birthday dinner was sending out savory odors. A table in the living room was piled with gifts, two in large boxes carefully wrapped in tissue paper being especially conspicuous. Investigation revealed that each box contained a lively pullet. The donor did not guarantee they would lay golden eggs, but if the price of hen fruit continues to advance at their present rate, the birds are liable to lay eggs that will be worth their weight in gold. Mrs. Anderson also received a breastpin, silk hosiery and other remembrances. The list of guests who gathered around the beautifully-spread table and who showered the honoree with congratulations were: Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Higgins and daughter Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hoffman, Carl, Howard and Raymond Anderson and their mother, Mrs. M. A. Anderson.

ARMISTICE DAY

FINE PROGRAM AT HIGH SCHOOL GYM HONORS
SERVICE MEN OF GLENDALE

A fine audience filled all seats in the High School Gym, lined the walls and crowded the doorway Tuesday evening for the Armistice Day patriotic program honoring the service men. Not as many soldiers and sailors were present as it was hoped would be there, but the Glendale Post of the American Legion was ably if not largely represented by men who will carry to their comrades the message of appreciation and affection which the function stood for. The orchestra of the Glendale Elks' Lodge was present and contributed beautiful musical numbers. Its membership includes a number of service men, four of whom were there, viz.: Dana Burket (cello), I. S. Brown (trombone), Roy C. Flint (drum) and H. G. Henning (piano). Other players were: R. E. Olin (violin), Morris Caruthers (cello), Henry Parker (flute), Earl Naudain (clarinet), L. O. Wilbur and Ed Kerri, cornetists. They opened the program with "General Pershing's March," furnished the orchestral accompaniment when Mrs. Charles Parker led the audience in singing "America," played several popular numbers while waiting for the speaker, at the conclusion of his address gave a medley of patriotic airs, and finally led the audience in the singing of "Star Spangled Banner."

Another delightful musical feature of the program was the singing of "Now Pray We for America," by the Madrigal Club led by Mrs. Charles Parker with Mrs. Wright at the piano. The song, melodious and dignified, is the beautiful composition of Charles Parker, of Glendale.

The leading address of the evening was made by Joseph Scott, than whom it would be hard to find an orator more popular with Glendale audiences. He was frequently interrupted by applause and touched current sentiment in the tributes he paid not alone to the service men—he emphasized the debt we owe to them over and over again in many ways—but in his tributes to the contributions which women had made to war, the Salvation Army lassies, the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. helpers in the canteens, the Red Cross girls, but especially the mothers at home who gave their sons.

Of the American Army's and Navy's contribution to the great war Mr. Scott said: "There was written on the great continent of Europe a new type of spirit, a new type of democracy, that of the plain, common people. You remember that Abraham Lincoln said: 'God must have loved them much because He made so many of them.' It taught the world that liberty and democracy

MISSION FEDERATION

ALL-DAY MEETING OF TEN
LOCAL SOCIETIES AN INSPIRING OCCASION

The Federation of Missionary Societies, which met in the First M. E. Church of this city for an all-day meeting on Monday was a success in every way. A large number of members from ten of the Missionary Societies of the Valley were present. The president, Mrs. Spickerman, presided, in her usual pleasing way. The success of this meeting was due to the program committee, Mesdames Lemon, Weiden and Kilborn. The praise services were in charge of Mrs. Willisford, of Congregational Church, in the morning and Mrs. Crist, of the First M. E., in the afternoon. These were very inspiring and were the key to the enthusiasm of both sessions. The music, as usual, was one of the most entertaining parts of the day. Mrs. Randall was the accompanist. Mrs. Hartley Shaw rendered "Enough for Me" and Mrs. Stoler's selection was "The Lord Is My Shepherd." Miss Bertha Jackson read "The Selfish Giant," accompanied at the piano by Miss Brown. Mrs. Jones also gave a very helpful reading.

The speakers in the forenoon were Mrs. Learned, who gave a glowing description of her stay at Asilomar last summer and the methods used there in the Mission Study Classes, and Mrs. Ruby Smart, who told in a brief way of the efforts of the W. C. T. U. for World Prohibition. The first speaker of the afternoon was Rev. Clifford Cole, of the Christian Church, on Interchurch World Movement. His address showed that he was very familiar with this great project. The special

NORTHWEST EXPECTED "RED" REVOLUTION

REPRESENTATIVE JOHNSON OF WASHINGTON SO TELLS HOUSE AND READS AMERICAN LEGION APPEAL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, November 12.—The Department of Justice today wired its agent on the Pacific Coast to make an immediate investigation of the Centralia outbreak. The shooting is considered of great significance here.

Representative Johnson of Washington read in the House today an appeal from the Centralia chapter of the American Legion asking for a thorough campaign to rid the country of the radicals. Johnson declared that yesterday's shooting was the first outbreak of a proposed "Red" revolution which he said the people of the northwest had long expected.

STATE TROOPS PATROL CENTRALIA

DISTRICT ATTORNEY COLLECTING EVIDENCE WHICH MAY HANG EVERY MAN IN I. W. W. HEADQUARTERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CENTRALIA, Wash., November 12.—State troops arrived here at midnight and were patrolling the streets following yesterday's outbreak of radicalism which resulted in the death of four members of the American legion and in the lynching of Britt Smith, an alleged I. W. W. leader.

All is quiet here today and nineteen alleged radicals are held safely in jail.

The developments of last night and this morning together with evidence gathered by the district attorney and the police indicate that yesterday's attack on the American legion was deliberately planned. An alleged confession made by Britt Smith just before he was hung at a bridge two miles outside of Centralia was to the effect that a joint meeting of the Chehalis and Centralia I. W. W. locals had decided to kill as many American legion men as possible. High power rifles were smuggled in to headquarters and when the parade passed the firing began at a given signal.

Dewey Lamb, aged sixteen, told the police he had heard the radicals planning their attack on yesterday's parade and had heard their plans to smuggle arms into headquarters.

The district attorney declares he is gathering evidence through which he expects to hang every man who was in the I. W. W. headquarters when the shooting occurred.

SERVICE MEN DISCOURAGE RADICALISM

OAKLAND, November 12.—Four hundred discharged soldiers and sailors today raided the headquarters of the "Communist Labor party." They threw the furniture, radical literature and red flags out of the window and burned them in a gigantic bonfire in the street. When the police arrived on the scene no one was in the vicinity and no arrests could be made.

FEDERAL PROHIBITION COMMISSIONER

DENIES BOLSHEVISM IN UNIVERSITY

MAURICE FRUIT, FRIEND OF TROTSKY AND LEADER OF
"LIBERAL FACTION" MAKES PUBLIC STATEMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BERKELEY, Nov. 12.—Maurice Fruit, friend of Leon Trotsky and leader of the "liberal faction" of the students at the University of California, today made a statement denying the existence of Bolshevism in the University.

Humorous incidents in connection with the war are not yet exhausted, and Ian Hay gives this one in his latest book, "The Last Million," in connection with the capture of a village from the Germans. A detachment of infantry arrived at the village only to find that a tank had beaten them by four minutes in the race to the market square. The usual young officer was in charge, and when the major came along he handed the village over to his superior officer, and then shyly asked for something to show, "just to show, sir, that we were here first." The major thought he could fix that, and solemnly wrote out a receipt: "Received from the officer commanding British tank Bing Boy one village, in poor condition."—C. S. Monitor.

CLINICAL LABORATORY

DR. GOFF, LADY OF WIDE EXPERIENCE, ASSOCIATED WITH DR. YOUNG

Glendale now has a clinical laboratory equal in equipment and conducted as ably as any of the up-to-date laboratories in the large cities. Up to this time it has been necessary to send patients who needed analyses to Los Angeles laboratories, and this forward step with the prestige it gives the city in medical circles, is to be greatly commended.

The new laboratories have been installed in the office of Dr. T. C. Young and will be in charge of Dr. A. Goff who is associated with him. There is special equipment for stomach-analyses both chemical and bacteriological although any analyses that may be necessary can be made here. In connection there is an up-to-date X-Ray and Coolidge equipment for diagnostic and prognostic purposes. Diseases of the kidneys and intestinal tract will be given special attention; X-Rays of the head, especially mastoid and sinus work, will be featured; and X-Rays of the teeth to determine certain conditions will receive special care; also all emergency work.

Those who know of Dr. Goff and her ability and experience in laboratory work say she is entirely capable of taking charge of any laboratory. She has had long experience in practice of this nature at St. Helena, Loma Linda and White Memorial College and when affiliated with the San Bernardino county hospital laboratory.

Dr. Young has always made a point of having the most modern equipment possible in every branch of his work and the establishment of these laboratories is only another evidence of his policy along this line.

Y. M. C. A. BANQUET

War Work Secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. and their wives were entertained at quite an elaborate banquet by the State Committee and Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. at the Y. M. C. A. building at 715 South Hope street Tuesday evening. Glendale was represented at the gathering by David Black, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Fry, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and Rev. E. H. Willisford. The last-named gave one of the toasts—"To the Wounded"—in which he referred to the wounding of Herbert McKee, who was attached to his division and who was wounded in the Argonne offensive. Mr. Willisford helping to dress his wounds. Mr. McKee was present at the banquet. Mr. Willisford in that connection paid a tribute to the bravery and unselfish devotion of the secretaries at the front who took no thought for the safety of their lives.

The official list of Y. M. C. A. war workers who had been decorated by foreign governments or cited by general orders was made public for the first time and included among those who received the Croce de Guerra bestowed by Italy, Alton M. Brooks of Glendale and E. M. Rhodes of Eagle Rock. About two hundred were present and a permanent organization of overseas secretaries of Los Angeles county was effected.

HONORING MISS McPHERSON

Miss Vera McPherson, who is now teaching at Big Bear Lake but who is down for the week-end and Armistice Day, was guest of honor at a little surprise matinee party given Saturday afternoon by members of the Lucky Thirteen Club at the Majestic Theatre. She was also the special guest at a party given for members of that club and a few other friends by Mrs. J. A. McKelvey at her pleasant home at 338 West Broadway Monday evening. It was an informal social affair with a clothes-pin doll dressing contest for which prizes were given, the first prize, a reproduction of a famous picture, going to Miss Alice Gray Beach, the consolation favor (a tiny automobile), to Miss May Church, while upon the honor guest was bestowed a beautiful picture of Crater Lake. Music formed quite a feature of the evening and a delicious supper was served by the hostess, her table being centered with a little log cabin, a candle burning within it, as a reminder of Miss McPherson's present place of abode. Surrounding the cabin were parti-colored zinnias, and the cloth was strewn with autumn leaves. The guest list included: Misses Vera McPherson, Alice Gray Beach, Grace Beach, Lura Hibben, Dorothy Hobbs, Dorinda Haviland, Ellen Webber, Essie Hamilton, May Church, Mesdames Charles Wells and Noble Ripley.

WEATHER FORECAST: Fair tonight and Thursday. No important change in temperatures.

CENTRALIA TRAGEDY

DALE HUBBARD, KILLED BY I.
W. W.'S, A COUSIN OF MRS.
LE ROY BOSSERMAN

To Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman the Los Angeles morning papers brought a great shock in the accounts they gave of the shooting and death of Dale Hubbard, at the hands of a member of an I. W. W. band of snipers who shot into the ranks of men of the American Legion parading the streets of Centralia on Armistice Day. Dale Hubbard is the cousin by marriage of Mrs. Bosserman and accompanied the Bosserman family on the auto tour of Washington which they enjoyed after their return to this coast from the east a few weeks ago. He was a splendid specimen of manhood, six feet tall, handsome, and of fine carriage. He was married less than a month ago and had just come from his wedding tour of the east with his eastern bride. When the shooting was begun by I. W. W.'s from the windows of their headquarters, the service men instead of fleeing to safety sought to discover and pursue the attackers. Dale Hubbard identified one man who had shot four soldiers and began chase. He cornered his quarry on the banks of the Skookumchuck River and the two men grappled. It was a peace-day celebration and Hubbard was unarmed. The I. W. W., who proved to be the secretary of the organization in Centralia, Britt Smith, shot Hubbard through the body mortally wounding him. He died at eleven o'clock last night. Other service men who followed Dale Hubbard's lead disarmed Britt Smith and the infuriated mob which by that time had swelled to five hundred furious men, then and there hanged Britt Smith without waiting for justice to take its slow course.

Mrs. Bosserman said the I. W. W. (Continued on Page 3)

A LOCAL ARGONAUT

George S. Smith of 410 East Broadway is a new sort of argonaut who has had quite a sensational experience. As his neighbors and friends know, he has been using for garden purposes the vacant property on Broadway and Jackson opposite the Glendale Sanitarium, which was long used as a dumping ground for flood and general street refuse, but which Mr. Smith has graded and made attractive with his crops. A few days ago he brought to his home a cluster of freshly-pulled radishes, one of which appeared to be encircled by some foreign substance. He turned it over to Mrs. Smith for investigation and she discovered it was a band ring which on being polished revealed its golden material. It was very evidently a gentleman's ring and was inscribed with certain letters and a date reaching back a good many years. The Smiths are conscientious people and say when any one appears who can accurately describe the ring and give the initials and date inscribed therein, they will surrender it. Encouraged by this experience, Mr. Smith has been considering the conversion of the whole tract into a radish field, but fears it would take too close watching and that the crop would be taken by the burglars who have been making such hauls of jewelry in Glendale recently.

ARMISTICE DINNER

BANQUET BY MISS ANNIE MCINTYRE

Miss Annie L. McIntyre assisted by Mrs. Helen Campbell, was hostess at a fine turkey dinner served Armistice night in honor of four service men who had been neighbors and friends from boyhood. Covers were laid for the parents of the hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McIntyre, for F. W. McIntyre, for the four ex-soldiers, Percy T. and Wilmot J. McIntyre, Elmer Nelson and Donald Goode, for Miss McIntyre and Mrs. Campbell. Surrounding the red, white and blue centerpiece were small American flags. Their stations one year ago when the armistice was signed formed an interesting theme of conversation. Percy McIntyre was with the 91st Division in Belgium under orders to advance that morning. He had taken part in three battles. Donald Goode was at Sedan with the Ammunition Train of the First Division. He had participated in five battles. Elmer Nelson was at Camp Upton with the 40th Artillery which had received its full overseas equipment and expected to sail immediately. Wilmot McIntyre was with the Chemical Warfare Service in Cleveland, Ohio.

A RECIPE FOR SUCCESS

What are the qualifications of a $25,000 man? What is demanded of him?

Well, the man who earns $10,000 to $25,000 a year must first of all know his business from the ground up. Large salaries are paid because of ability to so systematize and organize that the same effort will produce greater results, and so organize operations that neither effort of material or time is wasted. Mere drivers are not valuable. It is organization, system, ease and comfort in operation with production that is valuable.

He must be absolutely efficient; that is, he must have ability, judgment, courage, enthusiasm, self confidence, energy, initiative, foresight, experience, a great knowledge of human nature and personality enough to be a real leader of men.

He must take infinite pains in small things as well as in large. He must demand of himself as well as of others nothing but the best.

He must win and retain the confidence and the friendship of his superiors, his associates and his subordinates.

He must always be ready to take responsibility, to decide quickly, and he must be right more than half the time. With all that he must have backbone and a real desire not only to excel but also to serve.—Exchange.

FINE FEATHERS FOR FINE BIRDS

The average man jests at the average woman's love of color and personal adornment. But this same man's necktie and often his shirt indicate that the desire for brilliancy is not exclusively feminine. Whenever a man gets a chance, he will take it. It is only necessary to recall the riotous prodigality of the vest of a former decade, the somewhat noisy male sock of various periods, and the splendid male vestures of former centuries.

The belief that man in his heart still longs for gaudy plumage is being tested today by a group of London tailors, who are making an effort to restore Eighteenth century styles. Londoners are to be invited to wear plum-colored coats, shaped to the waist and skirted, yellow waistcoats and white socks, knee breeches and black shoes with silver buckles. This fine regalia is to be topped by soft felt hats of golden hue. Evening wear demands a stiff shirt with ruffles and a half inch of trimming on the cuffs. These evening suits may be of any color from royal blue to scarlet.

A man at first blush will laugh at this attempt to brighten his life, but he will be likely to feel some slight yearning to see himself in this fine garb. And this is not unnatural. It is the male bird that wears the bright colors. The fact that such gay apparel was once worn and with so pleasantly picturesque results, is shown in the old pictures and in the stage reproductions of the old days.

Take the average "careful dresser" and in your mind's eye see him rigged in all this splendor, and you are likely to confess that life would by the change acquire added picturesqueness and interest.

SPECULATION IN FOREIGN MONEY

People who want to make money—there being several of them in the vicinity of Wall street and elsewhere—are struggling to adjust patriotic scruples with possibilities of "cleaning up" on the low exchange value of the German mark.

Marks have hit the bottom in their spectacular drop, it is felt by many, who have followed the tumble in value of the German unit of exchange from 25 cents to 3 1/4 cents. Much exchange on German banks is being bought at the low price.

Most of the purchasers are bank employees, people connected with business houses, and those who "play the game" on the outside looking in at Wall street. Many bankers consider the mark a good buy, but cannot purchase except as individuals, since reliable and conservative banks cannot speculate on unproductive values.

Speculating on the mark is considered purely a gamble, but usually a good one, since the exchange depends largely on trade, and it is thought trade will begin gradually. It is thought by many that the mark should rise to 10 cents in value inside two years, enabling trebling of money invested. However, conservatives point at the Russian ruble, in which many people invested, and which is now down to practically nothing in value. Many people who invested in marks last spring when they were around 8 cents, are rueing the drop to 3 cents.

The system of buying most in vogue is to purchase exchange in Berlin banks. The receipt can either be kept here, and sold later, or can be sent to Berlin, where the marks can be on deposit at interest. It is said the Germans are not averse to the enormous buying of marks even at such low prices, since it will enable them to secure raw materials on the dollars they thus secure in American exchange, and will stimulate trade. Furthermore, demand for marks will send their value up.

There is a very general feeling, despite the low price of the mark, that the Germans will come back industrially very quickly, perhaps more so than the French and Italians, due to the Teutonic mania for work. The only great danger, bolshevism, is considered pretty well under control, especially since the new German republic has at its disposal at least a million fighting men under the name of "Noske Guards."

Some who would otherwise "take a fling" at the money market, hesitate because of anti-German feeling. The idea of abstaining from buying anything German seems to have been pretty generally forgotten, however, in the jumble of new popular problems which have arisen.

Buying of French exchange is almost as spectacular as the German. The French franc has dropped to about half of its original value, with relation to American money, and many people are acquiring money of France, as a speculation. In most cases, the French exchange is sent to Paris, to be held on deposit until the franc sees better days. The Italian lira is low, but is not a popular buy at present, perhaps due to lack of confidence in the Italian government, or else lack of familiarity with Italy on the part of the public.

Games and Toys

What joy they bring to little hearts on Christmas morning!

Children take so much pleasure in gifts of this kind that are comparatively inexpensive, that two or three puzzles, games or toys which sharpen the wits, cause the child to think and promote good-natured competition should be included in the order to Santa Claus.

We have a dandy line of gifts of this kind which we invite you to inspect. It is not too soon to decide what is to go in the Christmas stocking.

THIS IS THE DAY OF THE CHILD

The California State Board of Health says that this is the day of the child—particularly of the American child.

With the entry of the United States among the world powers, the importance of the American child has become tremendous.

Nothing in the world today is of greater moment than the development of this child of Liberty.

Upon his shoulders rests the task of perpetuating the ideals upon which the Nation was founded.

It is upon him that we must depend to keep America for the Americans.

Under the new social and political conditions his work will be no gentle pastime.

To make him fit for future responsibilities will require the provision of every attribute that makes for education and for physical well being.

By giving to the Nation strong, healthy, intelligent children California can best prove her devotion to the principles of Liberty upon which the Nation was founded and can best prove her fealty to the bonds that hold the United States in everlasting union.

MISSIONARY FEDERATION

speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Dr. Kelley, of the Island of Hainan, China, who, with her husband, a medical physician in the hospital there, are in America on furlough. While here, she is using the time in behalf of the lepers of that country, especially, but of the world in general for an International Interdenominational Mission to Lepers. A free-will offering was given to this special work, and it was the voice of those present that each society represented should present the cause to their individual societies and receive from them an offering for this cause.

The officers for the ensuing year are: President, Mrs. La Porte, of Eagle Rock; vice-president-at-large, Mrs. Kilborn; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Welen; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mottern. Mrs. King and Mrs. Edmonds of Pasadena, organizers of this federation, were present, and were introduced and brought the greetings of their federation. A delicious luncheon was served at noon in the Social Hall.

A family of new-comers from Arkansas who recently moved to San Bernardino never saw an automobile, they say. That's what many a poor fellow has said, after they picked him up.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Craig of 316 West Garfield street are the happy parents of a fine ten-pound boy born last Saturday afternoon, November 8, 1919. He will be a fine playmate when older for his little sister Pauline.

Rev. Clyde Monroe Crist, pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city, was called to Pasadena today to officiate at the funeral of Mrs. Parker, for years a prominent member of the Lake Avenue Methodist Church and the mother of Dr. J. Tyler Parker, of Pasadena.

G. Williams, wife and son, of Oakland, who autoed to Los Angeles to visit their brother, came to Glendale yesterday and took Mr. and Mrs. LeBlanc and Mrs. Farbar for a joy ride which they all enjoyed very much. They had a good lunch at Boos Bros. and on their return in the evening a good dinner was served at Mr. LeBlanc's home and a pleasant evening was enjoyed with their former Kansas City neighbors.

WATER BOND WORKERS

There is a live interest being taken in the water bond election today. The opposition is of a silent nature, but is quite active. The improvement in the water system is needed as has been outlined in the call for the election and if the project fails today it will necessarily need to come up again as soon as the law will permit another election to be held.

ARMISTICE SERVICE BALL

Quite a party of Glendale service men and their ladies attended the Armistice Ball at the Shrine Auditorium Tuesday evening, the list including among others, Elaine Hudson and Al MacKenzie, Arthur MacKenzie and Miss Carlson of Los Angeles, Evelyn Williams and Fred Wilson, Martha Ray and Vernon Thompson, Homer Plannette and Marcella Miller. Before general dancing began a fine program of fancy dancing was given. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags and the national colors and thousands of dancers crowded the floor. So dense was the throng it was almost impossible for friends to keep any track of each other.

THE WISHING RING

Children who love fairy stories and that means nearly one hundred per cent of them, have frequently desired the wishing ring which would enable them to transform any possession of which they have tired into something else. The Glendale News seems to have been able to provide its patrons with the equivalent of a wishing ring for there are many testimonials as to the efficiency of its advertising columns and it is not uncommon to find therein such announcements as: "For Sale, goat and pig. Will trade for cow or chickens." Thus metaphorically the goat takes on bovine proportions and the pig sprouts feathers.

RETURN OF MRS. TURCK

Mrs. Charles Turck arrived in Glendale from Chicago Tuesday evening, Armistice Night. Her stay there of several weeks did her a great deal of good and she returns much improved in health. She reports a very nice visit with relatives and friends and a pleasant trip going and coming. At Trinidad on the way home eight inches of snow was encountered and zero temperatures. The weather in Chicago was fine during her entire stay. She was distressed on reaching home to find Mr. Turck ill.

The hide of a lowly bull-yearling becomes very valuable after it has been given the attention of a few skilled craftsmen and a few profiteers.

Advertise it, or advertise for it in the Evening News.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Mrs. J. F. Hearnshaw is this afternoon giving a little party in celebration of the birthday of her mother, Mrs. M. Viohl, in whose honor the Hearnshaw home has been beautifully decorated with fall flowers. It is an informal social afternoon with refreshments served at the close. The list of invited guests includes: Mrs. Charles Glover and her mother, Mrs. Thomas Thorwalt of Chicago, Miss Clara Ringert, Mrs. Kate Clotworthy, Mrs. Minnie Hester, Mrs. Charles H. Sanders, Mrs. S. Collum, Mrs. E. Augustine, and, of course, the guest of honor.

NATURE RESTORES

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bean, who came to Glendale from Los Angeles a few months ago and purchased the Penton ranch on Verdugo Road, are rejoicing in the near completion of the beautiful two-story house the Bentley-Schoeneman Company has been building for them and which contains every provision for their comfort and pleasure. It has a beautiful setting in a grove of live oaks. They are installing their own lighting system. A year ago when the armistice was signed the Beans were in Honolulu where they had gone in the hope of benefiting Mr. Bean's greatly impaired health. At that time he was too weak to walk from his doorway to an auto. Now, so beneficial has been his residence in the Glendale foothills, he is able to work upon his ranch from dawn to dark and rejoices in the privilege after his term of invalidism.

headquarters were pointed out to her when in Centralia as a dangerous center of radicalism which was thronged always with lumberjacks. Mr. and Mrs. Bosserman were entertained in the home of S. B. Hubbard, uncle of Mrs. Bosserman and also the uncle of Dale Hubbard. A brother of the man whose life has just been sacrificed was killed in an automobile accident not long ago, leaving a bride to whom he had been married but a short time. The young widows who are sisters-in-law are thus left to mingle their tears.

Dale Hubbard was one of the most popular men of his years in the northwest, Mrs. Bosserman says, and had a brilliant future opening before him. He was never one to seek safety when danger threatened and she considers he died a soldier's death in defense of the principles of law and order for which the American flag stands as truly as though he had fallen on the battlefields of France. Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Ashton, the parents of Mrs. Bosserman, were expected to arrive at the home of S. B. Hubbard in Centralia on Thursday. It will be a sad visit for them.

MYTONS AT OCEAN PARK

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myton have sold their home at 510 North Maryland avenue to Al Muff, who has been living in Los Angeles, but who has quite a circle of friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myton and family are now located in Ocean Park. They like it very much there but miss their Glendale friends. Mr. Myton is still with the Jesse D. Hampton Company, and writing scenarios for Blanche Sweet. He has just completed a film dramatization of Bret Hart's "Cressy," and the film story "Cyndarella Jane," and is now composing the scenario of "Simple Souls."

HIGH MISSION FOR PATRIOTS

On the spot where the first American troops landed in 1917, the people of France have begun the erection of a statue commemorating this historic incident. Recently the corner stone was laid with simple but solemn ceremonies.

As long as France remains a nation this spot will be one of the shrines of her people. Legends will grow up about the spot, legends about General Pershing, legends about the American soldiers, legends about the great republic beyond the seas whose men came, like Joan of Arc of old, to drive the foreigners from the soil so dear to the hearts of every Frenchman.

Contrast this monument erected as an expression of the undying gratitude to the monuments left by the Germans not so many miles away. For centuries, too, these will linger on, but the dust and decay of the years will not be sufficient to cover up their message or to bury the story of their birth.

No one can hope for better things for America in her relations with other people in the years while she, too, is a great nation, than to have the monument of honor and esteem erected to her and the monuments of wrong, falsehood and dishonor be left to others.

As Plymouth Rock has been an inspiration for honest living and character achievement in the lives of individual Americans and for fine aspirations in the life of the nation, so may that other monument on the shores of the English channel remind Americans to watch their steps in their dealings with the world.

Every lover of this country will covet such monuments for America. They give new luster to the stars and stripes. They refute the libel of money, madness and frivolity. They speak of devotion to principles of right and justice, of love of liberty, of sympathy for the weak and help for the helpless.

such a war as will make the world conflict we have just witnessed pale into insignificance; when gasses will be used which will blot out the entire populations of cities, and other destructive agencies will be used on a like scale. If the League of Nations is not ratified he predicted that over against an alliance of England, France and America would be an alliance of nations composed of Russia and the countries with which she is already trafficking—Germany and Italy—and Japan. France today is bankrupt, he said, England disrupted by discontent, and if war should come again in ten years, the United States would have to bear the financial burden of the campaign.

Mr. Snudden's earnestness and fire made a deep impression on his hearers, the audience including a good many men who came for the privilege of hearing him, and spontaneous applause frequently interrupted him.

Vocal numbers by Miss Isabel Isgrig completed the program, her repertoire including "Vincent," "Christ in Flanders" and "In Flanders Fields." The program opened with the singing of "America" by the audience led by Miss Isgrig. The hall was beautifully but simply decorated with flags.

ARMISTICE DAY

had come to be a vital moving force for the welfare of humanity.

"We should bear in mind that it would be a shame and disgrace to Glendale or any community if any returned soldier had to walk the streets looking for a charitable organization or for a chance to make a living. (Applause). The soldier boy who comes into any store or manufacturing place should have the right of way over any other man. Where would our liberty bonds be, what would our contributions amount to, where would your home and happiness be if these boys had not been in the Argonne forest?"

"The Civil War left many problems and difficulties to be faced, many bitternesses to be lived down. We are coming in this country into the same problems through our selfishness and the difficulty of remembering the principles upon which we established these great institutions of ours; coming down to the sordid round of everyday business.

"Through the last half century the Grand Army of the Republic was the one institution that kept the home fires of American patriotism burning above all other elements in our civil life. (Applause). These boys are going to lead the way in that kind of spirit. They are going to take up the flag that the shaking hand of the veteran in blue lays down. We are going to have uniformity in the rank and file of these veterans of the great war. They are going to stand as Americans and are going to make every man, woman and child understand there is only one flag, only one allegiance, only one principle or loyalty and that is the grand old Star Spangled Banner. (Applause).

"We have a campaign of education on. We must make every rank of our citizenship understand that while the flag flies for the succor of humanity it likewise has authority. Lincoln told us of 'government of the people, for the people, and by the people,' but government not anarchy, not I. W. W.-ism, not Bolshevism, government. (Applause). You and I must respect authority. You and I must submit to law. We must make it our business to see that those among us who will not respect the principles of our government and that will not stand by this flag have no right to citizenship with you and me. In that fight for the restoration of law and order in this country these boys will be found where they are needed. Neither capital nor labor is going to run this country in defiance of law." In conclusion he addressed the service men present, saying:

"We are proud of you. The nation is proud of you and you are going through the next generation with pride in the knowledge that you had something to do with the cracking of the Argonne line and something to do with making Kaiser Bill the broken, discouraged man he is today."

Mayor Frank Muhleman, who presided over the meeting voiced the pride Glendale has in her service men saying he believed of all the men who had gone to France none had shown greater ability in "cracking the Argonne line." He referred to the fact that 5500 men went from this district. He then introduced Dwight Stephenson as the representative of the Glendale Post of the American Legion to respond to Mr. Scott's address.

Mr. Stephenson said he had been deeply touched by the tribute paid to service men by Mr. Scott and by the welcome given them by the citizens of Glendale, adding: "On behalf of the service men I thank you. While a great victory for democracy was won, those of us who were under arms are not willing to consider that we have fully paid for our heritage from America. We feel it is up to us to keep this country as a beacon light for all the countries of the world struggling for equality tempered by justice. Hence we have leagued ourselves together for the purposes outlined in the preamble to our constitution."

Mr. Stephenson then read the preamble of the constitution of the American Legion as published in the Evening News a few days ago and at the conclusion of the reading, he said:

"These are the obligations we have taken. We believe that every American would insure the maintenance of the ideals for which our grandfathers fought in 1861, our fathers in '91, and we ourselves in the great world struggle.

"With the memory of our dead comrades in our hearts and with their last words, 'Carry on!' ringing in our ears, we will 'carry on' until every traitorous agitator is driven from this land."

Under the supervision of Miss Irene Mueller, head of the art department of the High School, the gym had been very beautifully decorated with clustered American and allied flags, with long palm branches which signify victory, and with handsome shields framed in gold wreaths, the work of pupils of her department, each shield bearing the insignia of some war activity such as Salvation Army, Y. M. C. A., K. of C., War Camp Service, American Legion, American Library Association, Jewish Welfare, and, of course, the Red Cross, in a place of honor above the speakers' platform. This stage was carpeted with red and white, and had a background of beautiful flags with the Municipal Service flag conspicuously displayed. Mr. Beach of the Manual Training Department and his students helped to place the decorations.

Mrs. Eustace B. Moore, patriotic chairman for the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations, was general chairman of arrangements and Mrs. Rowe was chairman of refreshments consisting of delicious cake and coffee served at the close of the program at small tables distributed around the hall, with a matron and two maids to act as hostesses at each one. The list of these hospitable hostesses included Mrs. O. S. Palmer, Winifred Parker and Ruth Palmer; Mrs. A. M. Williams, Garnet Peters and Alice Wright; Mrs. F. M. Brown, Hope Ireland and Nellie Rowe; Mrs. Cora Frentz Dunn, Margaret McClusky and Fern Peters; Mrs. R. W. Mottern, Elizabeth Mottern and Hazel Walters; Miss Isgrig, Helen Van Coughnet and Helen Engle.

WHAT IF THE SPANGLE SEWERS STRIKE!

By Margaret Rohe
(Written for the United Press)

The city clocks were striking
When I saw a lovely maid
Stroll proudly from a bonnet shop
In smart attire arrayed.
I hastened to the hat shop man.
"Who is that striking creature?"
"You said it," was his prompt reply.
With rage in every feature.
"You've said it in those very words
There's nothing more to say.
She's my most striking model
And she's gone on strike today."

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Now that life is just one strike after another followers of fashion are doing pretty well to keep clothed sufficiently to stay in the procession at all without shifting attire to fit the modes of the moment. Strikes of longshoremen, miners, and milkmen sink in to merest significance when such truly appalling strikes are on like those of the spangle sewers, garment fitters or milliners, male and female.

A spangle sewers' strike would be particularly harrowing just at the moment since all the newest evening creations seem to consist merely of a shining spangle cuirass or stomacher held in suspense by a strand of beads over each shoulder and down to the belt in back. The skirts are mere billows of airy tulle with particular emphasis and billows laid on the hips. All black dance frocks on this order developed in jet and black tulle are the most popular of the lot but vivid creations in cerise, jade, gold and silver are guaranteed to turn our ballrooms into replicas of scenes from Zeigfeld's Follies at its best.

These newest tulle and spangle evening creations are making good on the backless rumors we had from Paris all last summer for the only backing you have when you don one of these is the financial backing necessary to pay for it. In its meager spangled bodice and fluffed maline skirts you are all set for a bareback act save for the horse and you're sure to be a little hoarse yourself ere the evening is spent.

Naturally these backless gowns cry loudly for accompanying scarves for warmth's sake if not for modesty's and wonderful are the elaborate confections of lace or metallic and silk embroidery, fur trimmed, beaded, fringed and hand-dyed that are offered up to drape the fair but freezing revelations of the barebacked beauties.

Gaby Deslys brought over one for every gown, each a dream of beauty and lavish handwork more ornate and artistic than the other. This year indeed she seems to be making a collection of scarves rather than pearls.

Spanish mantillas in white or black are very much used as scarves and the smaller gayly-embroidered Spanish and Chinese shawls of silk crepe heavily fringed are also most effective. Oriental scarves heavy with metallic embroidery, lined with softest puffed chiffon, lest they scratch a bit, are most opulent looking, banded with rich fur and entire all-over spangled lengths to match the paillette bodice of your gown are radiant beyond words.

Feather fans are more enormous than ever this season and make most effective notes of color against black or light frocks when they are of some vivid and hectic shade themselves. The sombre plumes of the black feather fan are of course stunning with any color. There is a strong suspicion however that a new use for the fan will be evolved this winter. Instead of wielding them coquettishly or languorously in front to create a draft they will be held unfurled at the back in the manner of a Spanish beauty having her picture taken.

This in a mad effort to keep off the drafts from unduly exposed shoulder blades and spinal columns.

Long Beach insists on keeping in the lead on the air business. She has an aeroplane speed cop. Five dollars fine for picking air pockets. A tender for missing a base in landing. A greenback for skidding across a field of new grain. For knocking off a church steeple, any denomination. Fifty bones (all broken) for falling through a skylight.

HALLOWE'EN DEPREDAATIONS (Contributed)

Among the depredations committed on Halloween evening, two large sign boards belonging to Mr. Ayers, one on the corner of Park avenue and Brand boulevard, and one on the corner of Glendale and Palmer avenues, were torn down, which incurred a cost of $10 for new post 4x4 and work to put them up again. Did those boys realize that their consciences are guilty for the damages done to that man, and that at the judgment day God will require an account of them for it? Have the parents of those boys given them instructions on honesty, and that willful destruction of their neighbor's property is as bad as stealing? Many parents are too negligent in those duties and give their children too many liberties, let them run out nights at late hours. Is it a wonder that many turn out bad? No, it's a wonder that not more of them go wrong.

STATE NEWS

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 12.—The fans are asking these days if it's possible that all sixteen big league clubs will grant waivers on Al Walters, now the property of the Boston Red Sox, who is wintering in San Francisco. According to several of his friends, Walters would like to perform in the Pacific Coast League next season, preferably with San Francisco, his home town. Walters asked Charley Graham to engineer a deal for him last spring, but the Seal skipper didn't think there was a chance to get him out of the big show. But the local player, while one of the best catchers in the game, is bothered a good deal by the heat in the east. So the question remains: Will the big league grant waivers?

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 12.—Plans for sixty airplanes on forest service patrol for 1920, have been submitted to Colonel H. H. Arnold, air service officer of the western department of the army. The schedule calls for eighteen planes for California; eighteen for Oregon; twelve for Washington; and twelve for Idaho and Montana. It was worked out at a conference of private timber owners with state and national forestry officials in San Francisco, and is now awaiting the approval of the army. The planes would all be equipped with wireless telegraph, parachutes for pilot and observer, intercommunicating telephone for the two flyers, and carrier pigeons for use in transmitting messages in case of forced landings or failure of the wireless.

Today's sessions of the convention were devoted to talks on "Accomplishments and Possibilities of Co-operation" by the heads of the various growers' exchanges of the state. Fruit packing was discussed during the afternoon session.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 12.—Test of the constitutionality of the state law governing headlights on automobiles was begun in Superior Court here today when the writ of habeas corpus secured by Lee H. Hinkelman and John Paatsen, was argued before Judge Louis H. Ward. Auto owners all over the state are interested in the outcome of the case, as the validity of the dimmer law will be decided, it is said. Hinkelman and Paatsen were convicted in police court, but have appealed
